Substituting During Student Teaching

A student teacher may substitute during student teaching under certain conditions:

- The student teacher may substitute only for her/his own cooperating teacher(s).

- The student teacher must meet the school district’s requirements for substituting.

- The student teacher must be paid for this service at the standard rate of the school district.

- School administrator, cooperating teacher, and university supervisor must agree that the student teacher is capable of effectively replacing the teacher for the day.

- School administrator or cooperating teacher should notify the Director of teacher Certification and the university supervisor prior to the assignment, if possible, or, at least, on the day of the assignment.

- The student teacher may not be hired for more than three days in a row without prior special permission form the Director of teacher Certification. Each situation will be dealt with on an individual basis.

- The student teacher may not be used as a substitute during any work action or strike situation.
